

MR. CAMERON, EXAM. BY MR. MERRICK

1 me, were a group of issues discussed together. I
2 remember two of them. I'm saying to myself, "It's funny,
3 if there were a group of issues why wouldn't I remember
4 the other one." Maybe I was involved, I don't know.

5 COMMISSIONER Memory is fallible, you know, that's --

6 A. So, I mean, I think it's pretty clear.

7 MR. MERRICK Well, in fairness to you, Mr. Cameron, I
8 may have been misleading you. I'm not asking you whether
9 you were involved, I was --

10 A. I might have been. I might have been --

11 Q. All right.

12 A. -- involved in those discussions.

13 Q. But we will take your answer to be that you may have
14 been involved in those discussions, but you have no
15 recollection, no explicit recollection of it today. I
16 take it that's what we can take from your answer?

17 A. Well, I -- you know, all I can say is I remember
18 this.

19 Q. Let me move on.

20 A. There seemed to be a group of issues and I may -- I
21 might have been involved more on that one than the other
22 one. I just can't tell you that for sure.

23 MR. MERRICK Let me move on. If you look at page 19,
24 you'll see where she adds her comment to that request by 25 Westray. She says, "This is not done for other
